

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Nail holders, and related methods, self-biasing one or more nails in a ready-to-be-nailed position adjacent to a workpiece, without using a manually-created clamping force against the nail with the thumb and index finger remote from the nail, are disclosed. Force applied to the nail holder remote from the nail readily separates the nail holder from the nail after the nail is partially driven into a workpiece.